

A Message from Greenheart

Never before in the history of the human race did we have the power to choose which road to take into the future: to live in peace and harmony with each other and with nature, or continue to separate ourselves even further, with the almost certain result of destroying both ourselves and our planet.

It's time to join our green hearts, evolve our spiritual and ecological bonds with the rest of the world, and appreciate that everything is a part of the same all-embracing universal spirit.
